Our Brand, Built to Last

How we look, sound and show up — every time

This document is the single source of truth for the Truk Afrik corporate identity. It exists so that everyone who touches the brand — staff, designers, signage suppliers, vehicle wrappers and print houses — builds it the same way, every time. Use it before you create anything that carries our name.

It is the companion to the Employee Onboarding Pack. The onboarding pack gets a new person set up; this document keeps the brand consistent across everything we produce.

OUR BRAND PROMISE

We sell trucks that work harder, cost less to run, and stand up to African roads — and we back every one of them. No excuses about where they're built. Just proof.

1. Why Consistency Matters

Why we do this

Our buyers — fleet managers, mine procurement officers, transport operators — make decisions on trust. A truck is a multi-million-rand, multi-year commitment. Before they trust the truck, they judge the dealership. A brand that looks sharp and consistent everywhere reads as a business that runs the same way: organised, reliable, here for the long run.

Consistency is what turns scattered adverts, signs and emails into one recognisable name. When the navy, the gold and the SITRAK badge show up the same way on a billboard, a WhatsApp quote and a workshop sign, each one reinforces the others. The brand starts doing the selling before a rep says a word.

What consistency buys us

Recognition
Buyers spot us instantly across roadside signage, social feeds and trade press.

Trust
A disciplined look signals a disciplined operation and serious aftersales backing.

Premium standing
We benchmark against Volvo, MAN and Mercedes-Benz — and look the part for less.

The cost of inconsistency. Every off-brand asset chips away at recognition. A stretched logo, a wrong blue, a stock font or a generic stock photo makes us look improvised — exactly the doubt sceptical buyers already carry about a newer name in the market. Inconsistency also wastes money: assets get rejected, reprinted and rebuilt. One clear standard, applied once, is cheaper than ten near-misses fixed later.

The rule of thumb

If you are unsure whether something is on-brand, it probably isn't. Check this document first. When still in doubt, route it through the CI owner before it goes out — never after.

2. The Logo

Our logo is the chrome SITRAK badge locked to the TRUK AFRIK signature. It carries the manufacturer mark we represent and our own dealership name in one unit. Treat it as a single, fixed piece of artwork — never redraw, retype or rebuild it.

Logo variations

PRIMARY · chrome on Deep Navy

REVERSED · white knockout (mono)

SIGNATURE LOCKUP · on white

Navy is home. The chrome badge is designed to sit on Deep Navy and is the default. Use the white knockout where colour print isn't possible or on busy/dark photography. The blue TRUK AFRIK lockup is the dealership signature for white and light backgrounds. Never invent a fourth version.

Clear space & minimum size

Clear space

Keep a minimum margin of X around the logo on all sides. X = one-third of the badge height. Nothing — text, image or edge — enters this zone.

Minimum size

Digital: 120 px wide.
Print: 30 mm wide.
Below this the badge detail is lost.

3. Logo Don'ts

The logo is fixed artwork. These are the most common ways it gets broken — don't.

Correct, on navy

Don't stretch or squash

Don't rotate or tilt

Don't lose contrast

Don't place on brand blue

Don't crowd it (clear space)

Also never: recolour the badge · add drop shadows, glows, gradients or outlines · place it on a clashing colour or a busy photo with no panel behind it · rebuild it in a different font · separate the badge from the TRUK AFRIK signature · use a low-resolution or screenshotted copy.

4. Colour Palette

Deep Navy and Gold carry the brand. Navy is the dominant background; Gold is the accent that signals action and premium finish. The blues and chromes support; white gives the layout room to breathe. Use the codes below exactly — no substitutions, no "close enough".

	COLOUR	HEX	RGB	CMYK	PANTONE ≈
	Deep Navy	#0C2340	12 · 35 · 64	81 · 45 · 0 · 75	539 C
	Steel Blue	#1A4B7A	26 · 75 · 122	79 · 39 · 0 · 52	7692 C
	SITRAK Blue	#1E6DB5	30 · 109 · 181	83 · 40 · 0 · 29	7461 C
	Gold	#C8870A	200 · 135 · 10	0 · 32 · 95 · 22	7550 C
	Gold Light	#F0A020	240 · 160 · 32	0 · 33 · 87 · 6	1375 C
	Sky	#4A9FD4	74 · 159 · 212	65 · 25 · 0 · 17	2191 C
	Lion Silver	#8CAEC8	140 · 174 · 200	30 · 13 · 0 · 22	644 C
	Chrome	#C5D8E8	197 · 216 · 232	15 · 7 · 0 · 9	290 C
	White	#F2F6FA	242 · 246 · 250	3 · 2 · 0 · 2	Paper White

Pantone values are nearest-match approximations for spot-colour print. Confirm against a physical Pantone book before any spot-colour or vehicle-vinyl run. CMYK is a starting reference — always proof against the printer's profile.

Colour proportion

Aim for roughly this balance across any layout. Navy leads, white gives space, gold accents — never let gold dominate a whole surface.

5. Typography

Three typefaces carry the whole system. All are free via Google Fonts, so designers, print houses and the website all use the same fonts with no licensing friction.

Type rules: Headlines in Barlow Condensed, never body. Body always Barlow — never set long copy in the condensed or mono faces. Specs and figures in Share Tech Mono. Never substitute Arial, Calibri or a system default; if a font is missing, install it, don't swap it.

6. Brand Voice & Taglines

We look premium. We have to sound it too. Our voice is how the brand speaks in every caption, advert, quote and email.

How we sound

Confident, never arrogant
The most knowledgeable person in the room. Direct, backed by data.

Technically credible
Every claim specific and defensible. Real specs, real test results.

Straight-talking
Short sentences. Active voice. No corporate fluff or vague superlatives.

Proudly South African
SA English, local knowledge, African roads. Lead with value and TCO.

DO SAY	DON'T SAY
"The same ZF 12-speed AMT fitted to premium European trucks."	"Despite being a Chinese brand…"
"~45% cheaper on purchase price than a comparable MAN or Volvo."	"Exciting new brand…"
"Beaten the fleet average on fuel in every SA test."	"We are proud to announce…"

7. Applications — Where the Brand Lives

The same system, applied across every touchpoint. Each item below is a fill-in standard — swap in the real detail, keep the structure, colours and fonts fixed.

Letterhead

Full-bleed navy header band · chrome logo left · contact block right · gold rule + chrome hairline beneath · slim navy footer with www.trukafrik.com

Email signature

Barlow throughout · [Name Surname] in navy bold · [Role Title] in gold · [+27 xx xxx xxxx] · www.trukafrik.com · small chrome logo · no quotes images

Business card

Navy face with chrome logo · reverse white with blue lockup · name in Barlow Condensed · details in Share Tech Mono · gold accent rule

Vehicle livery

Navy base · oversized chrome badge · gold accent stripe · branch + www.trukafrik.com in Barlow Condensed · confirm Pantone on vinyl before cutting

Signage

Navy panel, gold accent, chrome logo with full clear space · Barlow Condensed headlines readable at distance · never crowd the mark

Social media

1080×1080 navy canvas · truck imagery as hero · headline in Barlow Condensed · feature pill bottom-right · approved hashtags · close with www.trukafrik.com

Spec plates

Share Tech Mono on navy or chrome · figures aligned in columns · gold labels · pull specs only from approved product data — never estimate

Branded gifts

Caps, golf shirts, mugs: chrome or white-knockout logo only · navy + gold · respect minimum size — if the badge detail is lost, use the mono version

8. Do’s & Don’ts Quick Reference

Tear-out summary. If you remember nothing else, remember this.

DO	DON’T
• Use Deep Navy as the dominant background.	• Don’t recolour, stretch, rotate or add effects to the logo.
• Use the exact HEX / RGB / CMYK codes in Section 4.	• Don’t approximate brand colours or use a “close” blue.
• Keep full clear space around the logo.	• Don’t set body copy in the condensed or mono fonts.
• Headlines in Barlow Condensed; body in Barlow.	• Don’t substitute Arial, Calibri or system defaults.
• Let the truck be the hero in imagery.	• Don’t bury the truck under heavy text or graphics.
• Lead with specs, value and total cost of ownership.	• Don’t use generic stock photography.
• Close marketing with a tagline and www.trukafrik.com.	• Don’t say “despite being Chinese” or “exciting new brand”.
• Route anything uncertain past the CI owner first.	• Don’t put staff personal numbers on general marketing.

9. Asset Library & Contact

Where to get the real artwork

Never recreate brand assets from this PDF — request the master files. Approved logo artwork (chrome, white-knockout and blue lockup), fonts, colour swatches and templates live in the brand asset library.

Logo files	PNG (transparent) + vector. Chrome, white-knockout, blue lockup. [Asset library link]
Fonts	Barlow, Barlow Condensed, Share Tech Mono — free via Google Fonts.
Templates	Letterhead, email signature, business card, social — Canva Brand Kit. [Brand Kit link]
Approval	New external-facing assets reviewed by the CI owner, then HQ, before publishing.
